Hacienda Carmel Association protests proposed dumping site

A proposal by the Carmel City Council to lease a 25 acre piece of property from Stuyvesant Fish for dumping leaves, branches and pine needles, met with opposition from residents of Hacienda Carmel at last week's City Council meeting.

The piece of land which is composed mainly of gullies and sage brush areas would be used to replace a present one under usage within the confines of the city.

Milton Kennedy, president of the Hacienda Carmel Community Association, appeared at the council meeting with a petition against the proposal signed with 339 signatures protesting the proposal.

A letter had been sent prior to the meeting listing the Hacienda's objections.

The piece under consideration is adjacent to the southwest boundry of the retirement community and the proximity would affect residents living at that corner. The HC Community Association felt there was a likelihood of considerable dust from the prevailing west wind and some elderly residents have respiratory problems.

The danger of flooding from the river due to blockage of natural gullies and culverts was an extreme hazard to be considered, Mr. Kennedy stated.

Other objections were listed as noise from hauling and dumping of brush, possibility of gravel being removed providing more noise, depreciation of property values, noise and dust from the proposed road whether on the strip reserved by the county or on a line to the west and the opening up of the secluded rear of the Hacienda property to intruders.

Council member Herb Blanks said that the site was out of sight to the Hacienda and would not be used as a "dump site." Blanks suggested that the HC members visit the existing site to see that their fears were groundless.

Kennedy told the Outlook that they felt the present site was an eyesore.

No open burning!

Even though we had rain over the weekend, open burning is not permitted at this time, according to Chip Collins, CV Fire Chief.

"Many persons assume that it is all right as soon as the first rain falls," he said, "but this is not true. It will take a lot more rain than we had to make open burning safe... and even when it is allowed, a separate permit must be obtained each time a resident wants to burn in the open, outside of an incinerator because each is for a specified time," Chip added.

When open burning is permissible it will be announced in the Outlook.

The Carmel Valley Fire Department had a quiet week for the first time in many. There were no fires and no emergencies.

RUTH ALLLAIRE really got Joe Ricupero at a disadvantage during last Spring's visit of the Red Cross Blood Bank. Just imagine Joe...not able to talk back with that thermometer in his mouth. Mrs. Carvel Baldwin (background) got a laugh out of the situation. The Blood Bank will be in Carmel Valley on Monday, October 28. Donors may go to the Fire House on Via Contenta from 3 to 6:30 on that day.

Marjorie McKiernon is still trying to make her hundred donors. So far she has had more than 100 volunteers show up, but the number accepted has just fallen short of the big 100 mark.

Persons may donate blood if they fall in the 18-60 age category and are in good health.

MEMBERS OF the White Oaks Theatre Guild display just three of numerous items that will be auctioned at the gala "Bid-A-Long" silent auction to be held at the Outrigger from 7 to 9 p.m. on Friday, Oct. 25. Auction items have a total value of some $11,000. From left to right are Mrs. Gilbert Craig, ticket chairman, with a Magnovox portable stereo, Mrs. Mel Blevens, poster chairman, with a Viscount transistor radio, Mrs. Monte Jones, catalogue chairman, with a hand-carved Mediterranean candle holder.

'Bid-Along' to benefit White Oaks Theatre

The Outrigger on Cannery Row has been selected by the White Oaks Theatre Guild for a novel fund raising venture, "A Bid-Along", on Friday, Oct. 25 from 7 p.m.

Items for the silent auction have been donated from Boston, Chicago, Arizona, San Francisco, Los Angeles and the Peninsula and are valued at many thousands of dollars. Clipboards will be placed by each item where guests will have an opportunity to sign their bid. The event closely resembles the annual silent auction sponsored by the Los Angeles Chapter of the Junior League.

Donations of five dollars per person (tickets are available from any Guild member) entitles the holder to champagne, hors d'oeuvres and the chance to bid on any of the items.

FABULOUS LOOT

Among the many fabulous things are: a string of cultured pearls, a year's free car wash, a cartoon by Eldon Dedini, a year of dinners at Wills Fargo, trip for two to Disneyland, sterling silver, a load of sand, catered dinners served by celebrities, and a registered quarter horse valued at $1,000.

The latter is a handsome two year old bay filly from the Gabilan Ranch on the Old Stage Road. She is halter broken and ready to train.

Bid-A-Long guests will also be tempted by such items as a Magnovox portable radio-stereo, three tons of sacked sand from Monterey Sand Company, or a $100 gift certificate at the Pampered Hamper in Carmel Valley; there will be art ranging in value from $800 to $20, by painters and sculptors such as Hans Skaalegaard, Al Parker, John Duffy, Dick Crispo and Jerry Edlund - and many more.

A man's suit, shirt and tie, valued at $250 from Derek Rayne; mink from Royal Furs in Salinas or a red velour caftan from Mary May's of Carmel will tempt the fashion-conscious, while sports-minded may bid on golf equipment from Robert J. Pegis, skin diving lessons at Seven Seas in Monterey or a two-and-a-half-day guided boat trip down the Rogue River.

PSYCHEDELIC POSTERS

Zane Speiser designed the posters advertising the event and they were silk screened by Mrs. Mel Blevins and her committee.

Psychedelic colors red, orange, green, purple and cerise depict the equally psychedelic poster figure of the "Spirit of White Oaks Theatre" with an intriguing double face looking two directions at once, alerting the observer to the Theatre Guild's Bid-A-Long, a silent auction of some $11,000 worth of new merchandise and services will be held Saturday, Oct. 25, at the Outrigger on Cannery Row.

The poster, involving 6 separate printings, was silk-screened by Speiser and 6 Guild members, including the Mmes. Montgomery Jones, John Pomeroy, Mel Blevens, Edward Arana and Eugene Ciezadlo, who spread their work on stage at the theatre. "The posters will be sold for 2 dollars each at the Bid-A-Long," says Mrs. John Pomeroy, publicity chairman for the event.

Plans for the Bid-A-Long were finalized at a party for members and their husbands which also helped to close the White Oaks summer season. Guild members, guests and members of the cast and audience enjoyed dancing and food in the theatre and on stage.

After the show music was furnished by the Ron Hudson Quartette.

Tularcitos parents to meet Tuesday

Tularcitos School Parents Club will meet on Tuesday, October 22, at 8 p.m. in the multipurpose room.

The program is bound to be one of interest to Valley residents, as George Short, a member of the Sierra Club, will speak on hiking and camping in our nearby Los Padres Forest.

Emphasis will be on family outings and Mr. Short, an accomplished photographer, will show colored slides to illustrate his talk.

CHS water polo team splashed

With 29 boys out for water polo, the sport is making a bigger splash than anticipated in its first year at Carmel High.

The varsity lost to Santa Cruz last Wednesday 6-1 and the JVs went down 10-5. Scoring for the Padre varsity was Larry Challis, for the JVs - Mark Service with 3 goals, Gary Tolleson and Harry Goulding with 1 each.

Next games will be against Robert Louis Stevenson School next Wednesday there.

Cypress Swim Club to have rummage sale

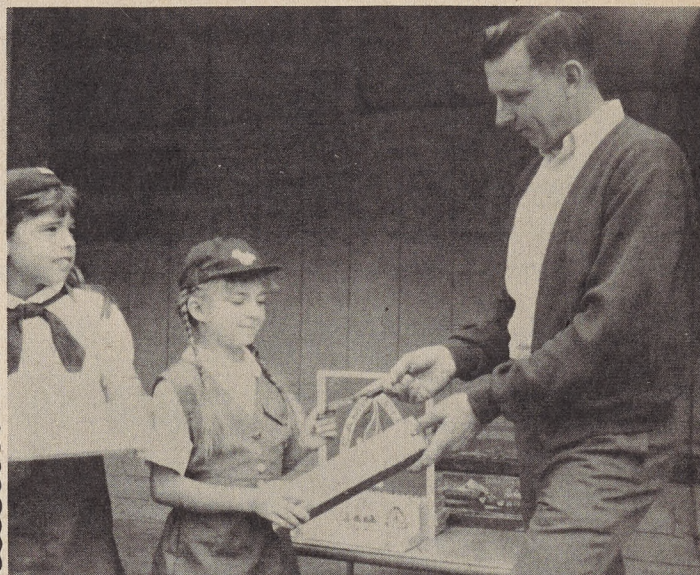

The Cypress Swim Club will hold its annual fall Rummage Sale next Saturday, October 19, at the American Legion Hall in Carmel, on Dolores Street near Eighth Avenue during the hours of 10 a.m. and 4 p.m.

All proceeds from the sale go toward operating costs of the local, non-profit youth activity.

Anyone wishing to contribute saleable items to the sale is invited to drop them off at the American Legion Hall after 4 p.m. on Friday, or call 659-2446 to arrange for pick-up.

Contributions to the Cypress Swim Club are tax-deductible.

Camp Fire Girl's mint sale starts

NANCY PRYER (left) and Fawn Nicholson sold one of their first boxes of Camp Fire Mints to Ken Van Hagen on Saturday as they set up a table by the General Store. Nancy is a first year Camp Fire Girl in her mother's group and Fawn is a Bluebird in Pat DeAmaral's group. In addition to the familiar Mrs. Saylor's mints, the girls will be selling Pecan Prides this year. Funds derived from the two-week sale will support council activities and the three local Camp Fire and two Blue Bird groups in Carmel Valley.

Distaff football

At high noon Saturday, Oct. 19, an all female football game will be held at Bardarson field to raise money for a Disneyland trip for Carmel High grad night.

The "powderpuff" game will pit 30 junior girls against 30 senior girls, complete with helmets, suits and all the paraphernalia of a varsity game.

CARMEL HIGH varsity grid-ders, trailing 27-6 at the half against Hollister here Saturday, made a valiant effort in the second half to close the gap, but still lost the hard-fought battle 30-24. The Padre JVs won 13-7 and freshmen lost 6-0. Padre halfback Rick Drobek sprinted 63 yards in the 3rd quarter for the longest run of the season. Carmel varsity meets Palma there at 8 Friday, the JV s play at 6:15, freshmen at 4:30. Shown at LEFT is the Padre varsity in the traditional entrance to the field, usually through the big paper

EDITORIAL

In spite of the massive disenchantment with the Presidential possibilities, one bit of brightness glimmers on the generally dismal political scene. That is the apparent lead that Alan Cranston holds over Max Rafferty in the Senatorial race.

Our enthusiasm for Cranston is based on personal knowledge of him as a fine, intelligent leader; he was a resident for years of Los Altos, our old home-town, where he happened to be our friendly landlord, and he operated one of Palo Alto's largest real estate offices. A former newspaper man and foreign correspondent, he served with notable dedication and success as state controller.

We also earnestly hope the best for Cranston because of our reaction to Rafferty. Sharp, clever and unscrupulous, he is living up to his reputation as a dirty politician with half-truths and whole-lies aimed at Cranston, who, unlike Sen. Kuchel, is striking back and trying to set the record straight.

RAFFERTY REVEALED

The most effective material revealing Rafferty for what he is, was a series of articles recently published in the Long Beach Press-Telegram, one of the Ridder newspaper chain, which are solid Republican papers. The articles which have generated all sorts of wild counter-charges from Rafferty are simply a good job of research and reporting. They obviously were source material for columns Rafferty's background should make you stop and think!

by both Art Hoppe and Charles McCabe in the San Francisco Chronicle. The two columnists are such specialists in the art of clever, imaginative satire that they probably didn't lend credibility to the basic facts on Rafferty revealed in the Long Beach Press-Telegram's stories. But the unembellished truth speaks for itself in the five articles.

"STUDENT AGITATOR"

The first is headed "Rafferty: Agitator as a Student; Exactly What He's Fighting Now." It credits him with being brilliant, which permitted him to skip several years in high school and enter UCLA at 16. His grades there averaged about C-plus and "he was far from the bored, unnoticed 'grind' he now recalls with such exquisite agony," the article says.

"Roy Swanfeldt, now a free-lance writer, was editor of the student newspaper, the Daily Bruin, in 1937-38, and he remembers the young Rafferty as 'an arrogant, swaggering kid who kicked up a storm over communism while I was busy worrying about the Nazis...'"

Rafferty's first wife, Virginia, now a schoolteacher, remembers Rafferty and the 'UCLA Americans', a campus group, "going around campus, breaking up suspected Communist cell meetings and anything else they didn't like. She said that in her senior year at UCLA when she was in line for the presidency of the campus YWCA, Rafferty ordered her to reject the position because he felt the Y was a hotbed for Communist causes," the Long Beach paper continued.

"HOT-TEMPERED KOOK"

Stanley Rubin, Daily Bruin editor in 1936-37, now a prominent Hollywood movie and TV producer, recalled Rafferty as "A hot-tempered kook. I remember one time he got so angry over an editorial I wrote that he came crashing into the office in his ROTC uniform and boots, looking every bit like a stormtrooper. He had two big football players with him, and he said they were going to beat the hell out of me." Rubin says the entire newspaper staff had to swarm to his rescue, forcibly pulling Rafferty off him and dragging him from the office."

Rafferty was impeached from the presidency of the Ball and Chain organization of football team managers, of which he was equipment manager, on charges he had "shown a conspicuous lack of interest in the organization and neglected duties which were naturally expected of him." He was later reinstated and it was said the impeachment had been "to awaken him to the responsibilities of his position." The group was also embroiled in a battle with the administration during which Rafferty demanded all managers boycott the important football game against USC, the sort of student activity he frowns on these days.

PERSPECTIVE

IN SHORT

The following was written by Valerie Williams, one of Middle School's Journalism students:

"Jim Kaller, 12-year old Carmel Middle School eighth grader, has been chosen to appear in a French television series filmed by Disney Productions for showing in France in December. 'The Children of the World' will be shown in 6 thirty-minute shows.

Jim, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Kaller of 21 Ribera Road in Carmel Meadows, has studied French since he was a kindergarten student in New York City. His role in the film is that of a typical California teenager interested in football, rock dances and other fun activities. An honor student at Carmel Middle School, Jim is the new editor of the school's newspaper "The Windjammer."

Jim recently appeared in a taped interview on KSBW television with several of his Carmel Middle School friends chatting about "The Children of the World." Those who appeared with Jim were Rocky Allen, Jim Morris, Jim Morton, Sam Mudd, Mark Montgomery, Robert Harris, Jeff Walker and John Toldi."

GULLIBILITY

I doubt if you heard what one morning occurred to Gullible Gus of the Ghetto,
Who finished his flair with chagrin and despair and a thrust of his trusty stiletto.

Now Gus had been told that the planets controlled his past and his future precisely,
But his Zodiac sign had got out of line, which messed up his prospects quite nicely.

Gus quickly consulted a witch which resulted in tea leaf and crystal-ball gazing.
She told him, for money, that life was all honey, and kept his hopes constantly raising.

Then Numerology backed by Phrenology concluded his name should be Daisy;
When Voodoo magicians discerned inhibitions, right there our poor Gussie went crazy!

So let's have no quarrels with methods or morals,
but have faith and be honest intentioned.
Use plain common sense and exert diligence,
Then you won't be like who we just mentioned.

UNDER THE OAKS & AMONG THE CACTI

By Mildred Hattan

Mrs. Rijmor Thiele and Miss Ali Bundgaard returned to their home in Copenhagen last week, leaving behind with Mr. and Mrs. Emil Hansen, with whom they stayed for 5 weeks, the message that "we have traveled extensively each summer in Europe, but have never seen anything as lovely as California."

The visitors from Denmark, lifelong friends of Gerda, flew via SAS over Greenland on a 17 hour flight which brought them to our state on which they had done considerable research beforehand. They were extremely interested in our history, our politics and one of their questions about us was "What do Americans really think about Vietnam?"

From their arrival which found them fighting to keep the flames from the Hansen's home on Pablo Place, during the wind-whipped Country Club Drive fire, the guests spent each day learning facts about us to report to their homeland.

With the Hansens as their guides their explorations were as varied as Point Lobos to the Redwoods and from the Pinnacles to Big Sur.

DANCE CLASS

A former Valley resident has come up with a plan designed to make your coming holiday season the gayest whirl (literally) ever! Larry Pelligrini invites anyone interested in social dancing to attend the indoctrination meeting Monday, October 21, from 7:30 until 9 at the Community Center. The dance master who claims that his 'Belle of the ball formula always works' plans to offer something for everyone whether a beginner interested in the standard waltz, foxtrot and samba or just someone who needs a quick brushup before learning the latest Go-Go steps. At any rate, the 6-week course conveniently offered at our own Community Center (which incidentally benefits from the rental) promises to be good fun, exercise, and an ideal way for new residents to get acquainted.

FLOWER POWER PLANE

If the "Phantom Oak Moth" was not noted for being such a devout coward that she flies with one wing tip always on the ground and is therefore never totally airborne, you may be certain that she would hitch a ride with the 'flower-powered' Valley pilot who flies the blue and yellow Cessna, just to observe first hand the reaction of other airborne traffic to the flower bedecked Valley craft. (And they said Ricky-Ticky-Stickers would never get off the ground!)

Don't see how the birds could resist the appealing figurine of a colorful Cossack guarding the newly planted lawn on the corner of Paso Hondo and Paso Cresta. Passersby find him irresistible!...

BLUE BIRD HIKE

A cave which just might hold buried gold that never reached the Mission in Carmel, (not to mention ghosts of Indians past), was the destination of the first hike taken by the Poppy Blue Bird Group led by Mrs. Patricia De Amaral. Mrs. Ronald Nicholson is their sponsor. The second graders who lunched in the cave near Rancho Fiesta were Susan Angier, Marit Arana, Christine Bellecti, Page Clausen, Kathy Collins, M'Liz De Amaral, Hillary Grey, Elizabeth Kern, Fawn Nicholson, Mary Jane Reuter, Pam Gross, and Stacia McFadden.

TWIN SONS

A part time Valleyite and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Dwight M. Cochran, welcomed twin sons born October 5 at Children's Hospital in San Francisco. Samuel Adams and Matthew John join a 3-year-old brother, Dwight M. Cochran III. Their grandmother is Mrs. Genevieve de Dampierre Casey of the Hilltop Ranch in Robles del Rio.

NEW NAVY FAMILIES

A warm Valley welcome to 3 new Navy families: Lt. and Mrs. Don McNeill have just completed an assignment in Pasagoula, Miss., and are getting settled on Paso Cresta. Barbara, a native of Maryland is fortunate to have a family of California guides, since Don was born in San Francisco and his parents reside in Sunnyvale. While he is busy with the course in Naval Engineering at the Post Grad School, Barbara is busy with their 19-month-old daughter, Margerie, and awaiting the arrival of their second baby scheduled for election day.

On their second tour of duty in California (they were previously stationed in San Diego) are Lt. and Mrs. Michael Andrew. While Jean, who confesses she and her husband are both "Navy Juniors", is turning quarters at 75 Lower Circle into their new home, her husband is attending staff communications class at the Post Grad School. Other members of their family include Michael who is 4 1/2 and Tommy who arrived 2 months ago in Indianapolis. Their first project upon arriving from a station in Rhode Island was to take a series of golf lessons which they

MARY JANE SPENCE, director of the Monterey Peninsula Museum of Art Association, toasts Ellwood Graham, first place winner in the Monterey County Painting-1968 Competition. Winners were announced at a champagne preview Thursday night at the Association gallery in Carmel. Graham received $300 and will have a one-man show later in the year, for his oil, "Predatory Bird". $300 was also awarded to Robert Nelson for "Rain Clouds Over Cerillos, New Mexico" and Howard Bradford, for his "Suspended Wave". Honorable mention went to Eugene Towne for "Cypress".

Symphony season to open

Haymo Taeuber, internationally famous Viennese conductor, will make his American debut next week.

The director and his 70-piece Monterey County Symphony Orchestra open their 1968-69 concert season. Concerts will be held in Salinas High School on Oct. 21 and in Sunset Auditorium, Carmel, on Oct. 22 at 8:30 p.m.

Maestro Taeuber, who was hired early this summer to take over the local musical group, has announced an ambitious program of musical events for the coming series. The Monterey County Symphony Orchestra will present 16 symphonic compositions ranging from the baroque and classical to the romantic and modern.

The new conductor believes a concert program, "should have something for everyone in the audience to enjoy," and has put this philosophy into practice for the opening night performance with Mozart's overture to "The Magic Flute" heading the evening's offering. This will be followed by Beethoven's seldom played and virtually unknown "Triple Concerto in G" and the finale features "Scheherazade" by Rimsky-Korsakov.

Guest artists for the "Triple Concerto" will be the widely acclaimed Francesco Trio comprised of violinist David Abel, cellist Bonnie Hampton, and pianist Nathan Schwartz. They have been performing as a group on the West coast for the last three years and have won critical plaudits from all areas.

Returning to the Monterey County Symphony Orchestra as guest concertmaster for this first concert is David Schneider, a founding member of the California String Quartet and the San Francisco String Ensemble.

Adding to the excitement in local music circles is the announcement that William Van den Burg, former assistant to Pablo Casals and Leopold Stokowski, will serve in the dual role of principal cellist and assistant conductor. This outstanding musician has conducted several major American orchestras and is a noted soloist in his own right.

Ticket information can be obtained by calling the Symphony Box Office at 624-4125.

Symphony to be in Carmel next weekend

The Oakland Chamber Symphony with pianist Roy Bogas will be first in the 42nd series of annual concerts presented by the Carmel Music Society at 8:30 p.m. next Saturday, October 19, at Sunset Auditorium.

Pianist Bogas, a resident of San Francisco, is a veteran of the concert stage. In 1967, his performances with the Lincoln Center Mozart Festival at New York's Philharmonic Hall drew standing ovations. In 1962 in Moscow he achieved worldwide recognition.

Under Maestro Gerhard Samuel, the Oakland Chamber Symphony has, in nine years, attained national recognition. Conductor Samuel, also music director for the San Francisco Ballet and conductor of the Oakland Symphony Orchestra, is a Mozart specialist. During this Saturday's program, the Mozart Concerto in C Major is included with pianist Bogas as soloist.

Tickets for the concert are available at the box office at Friar Tuck book store, Mission near 6th, Carmel. A few season tickets are still available.

Carmel residents honored guests in Pasadena

A library was dedicated and an endowment fund announced Oct. 12 at Gamble House in Pasadena, an example of the California bungalow style of architecture practiced by Charles Sumner Greene and his brother Henry Mather Greene.

Members of the families of the late architects who were honored guests at the dedication were Carmel residents Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel Patrickson Greene, Miss Bettie Greene and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Gordon Greene.

OUTLOOK ON CARMEL

Adventure runs high in new Explorarama film at Sunset

Explorer and photographer Ronald Shanin will appear in person to narrate his feature-length color film "RIVERS OF FIRE AND ICE" at 8:15 p.m. Thursday, Oct. 24, in Carmel's Sunset Auditorium. The showing is part of the current Explorarama series.

Ronald Shanin spent 5 1/2 years in Africa in the production of this film and he traveled over 25,000 miles through South Africa, Zambia, Rhodesia, Tanzania, Kenya, Uganda, Rwanda, and the Congo. The wild animal scenes are reported to be the most graphic ever taken. Two lives were lost in the production of the film and Mr. Shanin the in-person narrator and photographer, lost the sight of both eyes temporarily from the venom of a black-neck spitting cobra, was bitten on the right hand by an Egyptian cobra and had malaria. On the Equator at the summit of the Mountains of the Moon he nearly froze filming "RIVERS OF FIRE AND ICE" and later came close to being broiled during the eruption of the volcano "Kitsimbanyi".

In the filming Shanin joined a party of explorers, which included the chief surveyor for the Reserved seats for the program are $2.50 and are now available at Central Box Office in Carmel and Abinante Music Store in Monterey.

AFS to hold open reception for Grace Lim

The Carmel Chapter of the American Field Service (AFS) is having a reception for Carmel High School's international student, Grace Lim (Yun Khiew) from Malaysia, on Thursday, October 17. The gathering is open to anyone who is interested in attending and meeting Grace. It will be held at the Carmel Art Association Galleries from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m.

Mrs. Richard Sipple is president of the Adult chapter of AFS and has planned the party with Mrs. George Walker. Sally Harkins is in charge of decorations.

Alisa Smith is the president of the Carmel High School Chapter of AFS and Lynn Frybeck is the student representative. Miss Linda Mercer is the faculty advisor.

Entertainment will be strictly informal, with Grace teaching songs and singing with the high school group.

CARMEL'S GREAT SAND Castle Contest will be held this coming Sunday on the beach at the foot of 13th Street. Registration for entrants will begin at 1 p.m. and judging will begin at 2 p.m. For the uninitiated, this is a completely informal day of fun for the entire family, with no rules except to build a better sand castle... or mousetrap...or lady in the bathtub as these sculptors did last year. It won them a prize.

Arroyo Seco hike is fun this time of year

PRECIPITOUS SIDEWALLS sometimes make getting on and off a raft in the Arroyo Seco Gorge a bit of a problem. And the water is C-O-L-D! Taken from the rocks at a deep pool in the lower Arroyo Seco Gorge.

The Upper Gorge is even more narrow with higher walls, but lack of a waterproof case for the camera eliminated the very thought of taking it along on the raft, so we have no photos of the next part of the trip.

MPVS and Pink Ladies to hold benefit bazaar Oct. 22

A one-day Autumn Bazaar will be held in the Monterey Fairgrounds Exhibit Building on Tuesday, October 22, from 10 a.m. to benefit the Community Hospital Building Fund.

Admission is a one dollar contribution.

Two well known women's volunteer service organizations, the Monterey Peninsula Volunteer Services and the "Pink Ladies" of the Community Hospital Auxiliary will sponsor the bazaar.

The Autumn Bazaar will follow the same general pattern as the MPVS Flea Markets and Tombolas of the past.

Booths of autumn colors will make up a shopping arcade for the display and sale of donated merchandise, both new and used. There will be Christmas creations, gourmet foods, treasures and antiques, clothing, hats and purses, jewelry, shoes, households, linens, sewing items, bedding and drapes, furniture, sports items and toys. Lunch food will be served at tables in the Snack Bar area, and hot dogs, coffee and cola will be available from an outdoor stand.

Chairmen for the Autumn Bazaar project are Mrs. C.W. Fisher, MPVS; Mrs. James Parks, Auxiliary.

Lack of space at the merchandise receiving center for the bazaar has made it necessary to move the used furniture donated to the project to the MPVS Thrift Shop on Broadway Street in Seaside. It is and will be displayed and offered for sale there until Monday, October 21, the day before the scheduled bazaar date. A quantity of lamp shades, new and like new, were also included in the move.

For those who prefer to take it a little easy, but enjoy hiking and swimming, a trip up the Arroyo Seco Gorge at this time of year is a lot of fun. The water is very chilly, but now the current is not running fast and it is a simple matter to propel life rafts or surfing mats through the deep pools.

Recently we spent the weekend at Arroyo Seco Park, setting up camp at the Horse Bridge campsite, and then travelling up and down the gorge by foot and raft. Considerable rock hopping is involved and there are many places where the only way to make it is to swim or paddle on a raft.

Several of the kids in the group and a couple of the adult members swam the quarter-mile sections of water. The rest of us relied on help.

The 28 mile drive out the Valley Road to the Greenfield-Arroyo Seco turnoff is a lovely way to begin a trip. Turning right, one drives about 4 miles to the entrance of Arroyo Seco Park where one must get a permit to go into the restricted area...and a fire permit in order to cook on the camp grills.

Horse Bridge Camp is about 4 miles from the main Arroyo Seco Camp Ground, along a gravel road which will soon become impassable...when the rains start.

Getting to the lower Gorge is a simple matter of walking and rock hopping about a half mile down stream and climbing up and down one rocky cliff.

It is about 3 miles up stream to the very narrow and winding upper gorge where the canyon walls are so steep that it is virtually impossible to find even a handhold. Here is the spot where the sun doesn't reach to water and one can reach out and touch either side while paddling through.

About 1,000 yards out of Horse Bridge camp one reaches the first pool that one must swim. Shrieks were heard as each one hit that water for the first time, but after a whole day of in-and-out of the water, that same pool seemed relatively warm on the return trip. Aside from slipping on a rock or tripping over a branch or sliding off a raft, there is little danger involved in this jaunt. Five children, ages 8 to 16, and six adults made the trip when we went recently.

The hot, hot sun, the cold water, fall of the maple and poison oak and that great smell of coffee cooking out of doors early in the morning, all combined to make it a weekend to remember.

"Star Spangled Girl" to open Oct. 25 at Studio Theatre

It is Neil Simon again, back-to-back, at the Studio Theatre-Restaurant in Carmel as "The Star-Spangled Girl" opening October 25, on the Dolores Street stage.

This time Simon employs his inimitable style of humor to portray what happens to 2 young intellectuals, whose single-minded devotion to issuance of a protest magazine, "Fall-out," collides with the 100% Americanism of beautiful Olympic swimmer Sophie Rauschmeyer when she moves in next door and denounces them as subversives.

"The Star-Spangled Girl" opened on Broadway less than 2 years ago with Anthony Perkins, Richard Benjamin and Connie Stevens. Under the direction of Dave Kirk, it will run at the Studio from October 25 through mid-December.

On Sunday nights only, during this production, the Studio will experiment with a 7:30 curtain and dinner will be correspondingly earlier. The Friday and Saturday curtain time remains unchanged at 8:30. Reservations for dinner and show or show alone may be made at 624-1661 or 624-2321.

Artists showing include: John Cunningham, Doris Rohr, Helen Dooley, Sam Colburn, Louise Boyer, Don Bloom, John LaPierre, Jane Buffington, Keith Lindberg, Joe Ataide, Doris Baker, Jessie Quigley and Steve Hennessy.

STAGE-STRUCK YOUNG "ANNIE", played by Carolyn Evans, comes to the rescue of movie star Jonas Jordan, portrayed by Bob Lotz, as Emily Ford Leonard in the role of "Sadie", his chiding mother, chases him around the apartment with the racing form in a very light moment from the Circle Theatre's hilarious comedy, "Ready When You Are, C.B.I.", now playing weekends in Carmel.

Mastery of the Polaroid Land photography medium in both color and black and white by two top photographers will highlight the next exhibition of Friends of Photography, Inc., opening this coming week in the Carmel Photography Center.

Color photographs by Marie Cosindas of Boston, Mass., and black and white photos by Dr. George Schumacher, M.D., of Turlock, Calif., will be featured in the exhibit.

The remarkable Polaroid Land color photographs by Marie Cosindas have been described by John Szarkowski of the Museum of Modern Art, New York: "The photographs of Marie Cosindas are as real and as unlikely as butterflies.

Their delicate otherworldliness refers to a place and time not quite identifiable...yet the edge of acute observation saves the pictures from softness, and makes them not merely reveries but discoveries..."

Born in Boston in 1925 where she still lives and works, Miss Cosindas studied design at the Modern School of Design and Painting and Graphics at the Boston Museum School. She was a teacher of design and commercial artist, designing and illustrating, until a tour of Greece with a camera in 1959 produced some outstanding pictures.

She then studied with the Boston photographer Paul Caponigro and later with Ansel Adams and participated in Minor White's photography workshop.

Her work has been shown at the Museum of Modern Art, George Eastman House, at the Kodak Pavillion at the N.Y. World's Fair, at the Chicago Institute of Design, and are in many collections.

Dr. Schumacher has practiced for many years in the San Joaquin Valley and knows the Mother Lode and Sierra Nevada regions intimately. His photography has emerged over the years as a means of intense personal expression.

With his remarkable "eye" he has turned to the Polaroid Land camera in both black and white and color for an artist's results.

David Harris speaks of peace and fear at ACLU picnic

"The world merry-go-round is one of blood and destruction," David Harris, former Stanford student-body president who is resisting the draft, declared in an eloquent speech at the annual picnic of the Monterey Peninsula chapter of the American Civil Liberties Union Sunday at Saddle Mountain Ranch.

"We must build the all-men-are-brothers ideal into social reality," he said. The task is to create a whole new set of assumptions whose fruition is not death and destruction."

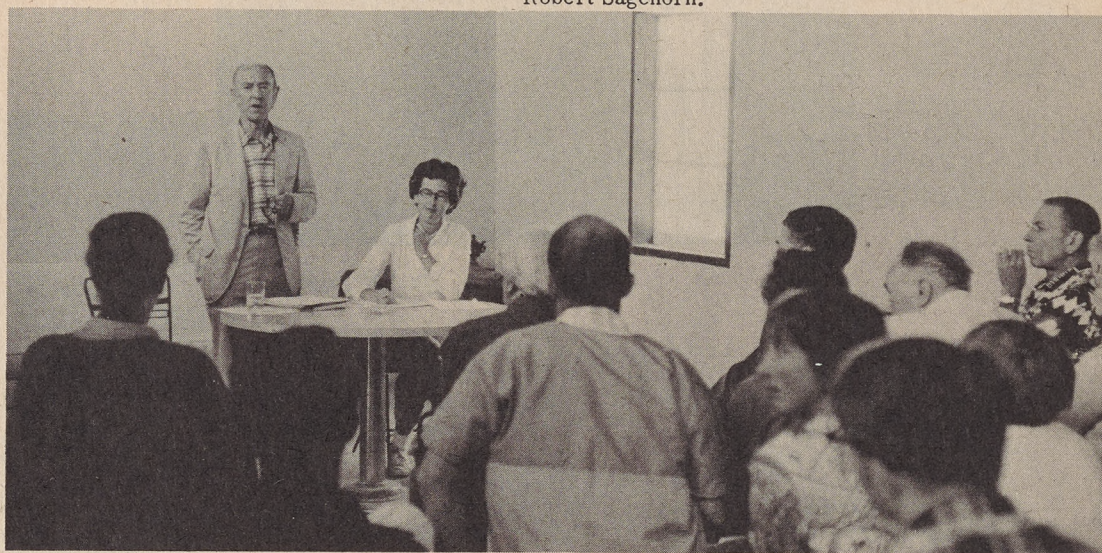

He charged that "Vietnam and the ghetto are basic American culture coming to fruition, for they represent an ill deeper than the wrong men getting elected." He labeled the average American's acquiescence to the military and to conscription as "participatory totalitarianism. This is the sort of allegiance which results in young widows and young men being shipped home in boxes."

Harris, who is the husband of singer Joan Baez, spread the blame beyond America: "You can dispense with political labels of the left and right," he said. "The world lives in organized politics of fear as we live in a society based on fear, which permits men to drop jellied gasoline on small children."

Harris said he is expecting a decision in February or March on his appeal of his 3-year sentence in federal prison for refusing induction.

The ACLU announcement of the picnic pointed out that the organization takes no stand on the draft, but is concerned that those in opposition receive their Constitutional rights to fair trial.

DR. RUSSELL WILLIAMS and Mrs. Winona Trason were re-elected ACLU Monterey Chapter president and secretary. (Photos by Ronald James)

Presiding at the picnic was Dr. Russell Williams, Monterey physician and ACLU chapter president, Joe Boardman, Middle School teacher, entertained with folk songs.

Re-elected was president Dr. Russell Williams, Monterey physician, and Mrs. Winona Trason, a Monterey teacher. Maurice Mandell, a Monterey interior decorator, is the new treasurer.

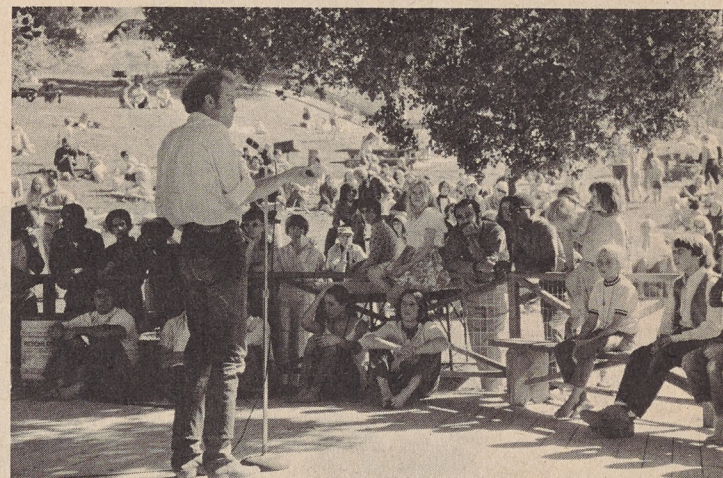

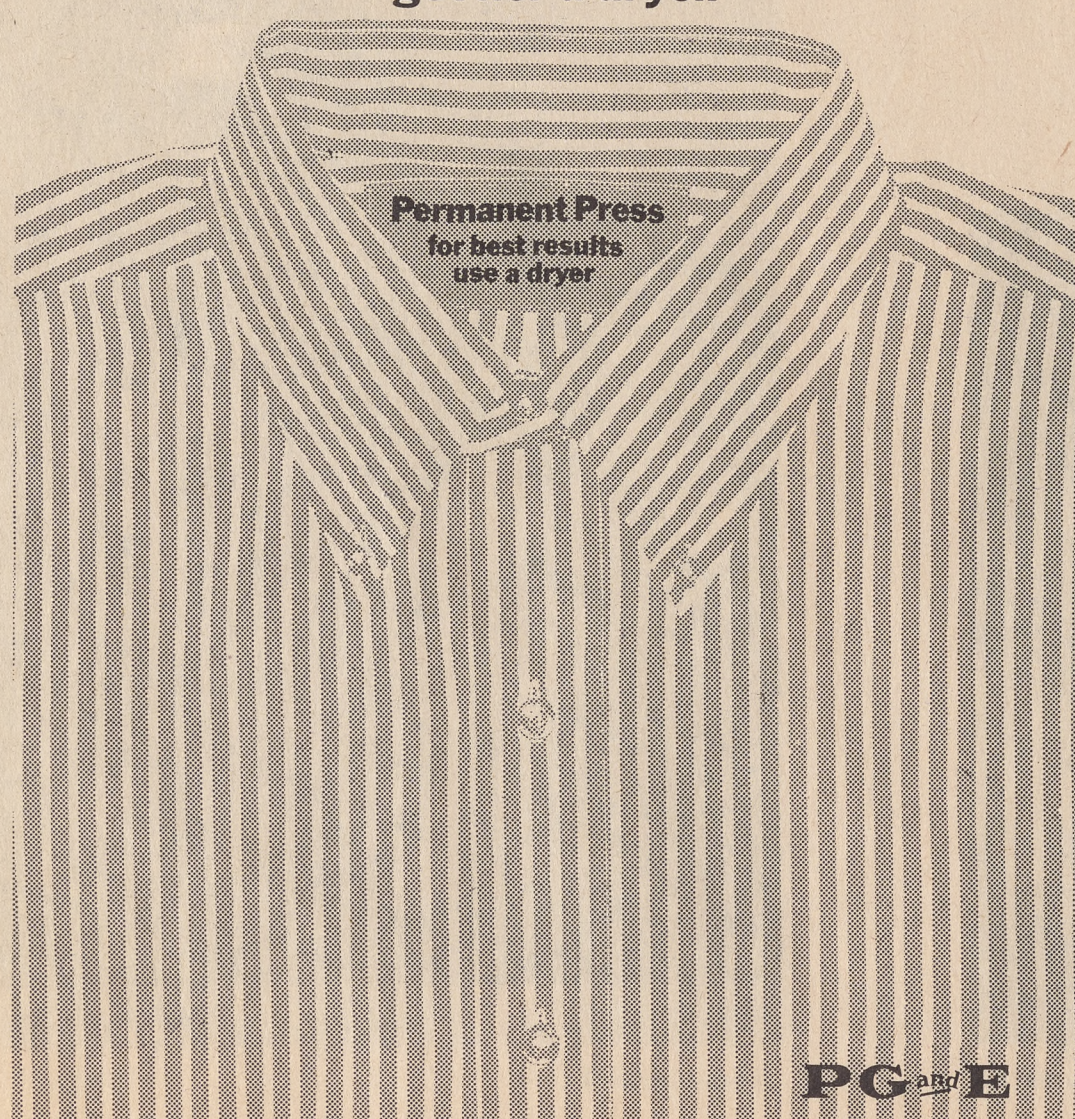

Carmel Lawyer Francis Heissler was elected for a second term as member of the Northern California Branch of ACLU.

Newly elected board members are Jane Van Hook, Seaside lawyer; Fenn Horton, Monterey teacher; Herbert Schwartz Carmel lawyer; Albert Lukavich, Salinas teacher, and Francis Duveneck, Seaside teacher-counselor.

ONE OF THE ENTRANCES TO THE NEW "GREEK FORUM" AT MPC

MPC Forum has Greek motif by Gordon Newell

Monterey Peninsula College's new lecture-forum is becoming familiarly known as "the Greek forum." It has much about it that is Greek with 17 names from "the great company of creative men of ancient Greece" carved on redwood fascia beams over each of the building's four entrances.

The carvings are the work of Gordon Newell, Monterey sculptor, and the lettering has been described by MPC Board Chairman Ralph Atkinson, who suggested the names, as "Newell Greek".

Including philosophers, a mathematician, historians, sculptors, a painter, an architect, a dramatist, a statesman and several poets, the names include:

ENTRANCES

Pythagoras, Thucydides, Praxiteles and Apelles - entrance to Room LF-103, 300 seat hall, east entrance; Ictinus, Aristotle, Apollonius Diogenes, Phidias, Solon and Thales - entrance to media center, west entrance; Homer, Sappho, Socrates and Plato - entrance to LF-102, 150 seat hall, south entrance; and Euripides, Heraclitus and Herodotus - entrance to LF-101, 100 seat hall, north entrance.

Largest of the carvings is 60 feet in length. One is 42 feet. Two are 30 feet long. Recently, the letters have been painted a rusty red color in order to protect them from the elements and make them "easier to read", according to Newell.

Other commissioned works by Newell include pieces at Occidental College, San Diego Coast Guard Base, Fresno Mall, Vallejo Civic Center, Seaside Manzanita Park and 2 pools he is now executing for the White House grounds in Washington D.C.

Financing of the redwood beams at MPC was arranged through private subscription.

Institute of Non-Violence to hold weekend classes

The Institute of Non-Violence will continue to have weekend sessions in the Valley school until after the first of the year with Ira Sandperl as Conductor-director.

The Institute plans to move to Palo Alto in January but a suitable building has not yet been found.

Saturday night accommodations for out-of-town students are needed. Carmel and Valley residents who have rooms to offer may phone 659-4311. Their help will be much appreciated.

Monterey County Symphony launches fund raising drive

The Monterey County Symphony Association is launching its annual fund drive this month with a plea for financial support to the music-loving community on the Monterey Peninsula.

James Glaser, Association president, noted "Less than one-third of our income is derived from ticket sales; therefore, we must seek support from local citizens to meet our operating budget of a little over $50,000."

The Monterey County Symphony Orchestra is now rated as an Urban Orchestra by the American Symphony Orchestra League, which places it among the top 100 orchestras out of the 1,400 in the United States.

More than 125 musicians ranging in age from 10 to 70 play with the Monterey County Symphony and Youth Orchestras, and last year they performed before over 20,000 residents of Monterey County.

The President's Symphony Fund Committee is comprised of Mrs. Rhody B. Holt, Mrs. Harry R. Lusignan, Robert O. McMahan, Mrs. Frank G. Ringland, Philip C. Smith, Mrs. Arthur C. Stewart, Mrs. Hans von Richter, Stephen G. Magyar, and Richard Bragg.

Five membership classifications have been set up by the Monterey County Symphony Association: Life, $1,000 or more; Sponsor, $999 to $500; Patron, $499 to $100; Sustaining, $99 to $25; and Active, $24 to $10. Contributions may be mailed to the Symphony Assn., P.O. Box 3851, Carmel.

Tax-deductible donations are used to help provide fine music in the community.

Garden Thoughts

by Salih Mehdy

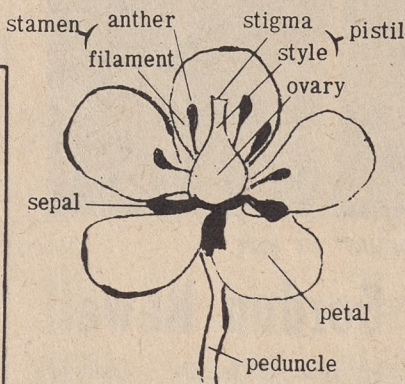

of the Oleander Garden Shop

Part of having a green thumb is knowing some basic gardening words and terms, so you can do your gardening thinking and talking in words understood by other gardeners. I do not mean that you have to be a botanist, but instead of saying "that fuzzy thing in the middle of the flower" it would be clearer and just as easy to say "stamens". Stamens are one of the main parts of flowers. Then you can say "Staminate flower" - indicating that the flower is male and lacks the pistil; hence a flower with only a pistil is female and the flower is a "pistillate" one. Some flowers have both parts. Here is a detailed diagram of a perfect or complete flower:

The "Cobra Lily" or pitcher plant (Darlingtonia Californica) has no venom, so you don't have to be afraid of it. The shape of the plant has some resemblance to a cobra, hence its name. This curious plant eats and digests insects, thus it does not need nitrogenous fertilizer to synthesize its protein. The plant thrives in a pot where soil is kept damp; do leave some water in the saucer below it. Also, it can be planted in shady, moist soil outside. Its natural habitat is a park now, and the plants are protected by law.

Welles Theatre needs financial assistance

The Welles' Humanist Educational Theatre, which has presented a number of stimulating plays at the Forest Theatre-in-the-Ground this past year, is in financial difficulty, according to its founder and director, Stephen Welles.

Currently in rehearsal with Harold Pinter's "The Caretaker", scheduled to open in November, the theatre is carrying on in spite of financial worries. However it is soliciting donations, - small and large, from the community particularly from people who have enjoyed its presentations and wish to see them continue.

The theatre also solicits original plays by local authors and has already selected a one-act drama for production.

HOUSE PLANTS

The mornings now are becoming nippy; the temperature is dropping to a little above the frost line. House plants which you may have taken outside for the summer should now be brought in. Clean and groom them, also see that they do not harbor aphids and other insects.

The warmth of the house will encourage these pests to multiply rapidly and soon your house plants will acquire a sick look. If you have among your house plants a poinsettia, naturally you want it to bloom during the Christmas season. These plants bloom when the days are short and nights are long. So do not expose them to lights at night; leave them in an unlit place.

The Carmel Valley Trail & Saddle Club will hold their Annual Fall Gymkhana Show at the club grounds on East Garzas Road in Carmel Valley on Sunday, October 20 (rain date, Oct. 27). Starting time will be at 9 a.m.

Entry fees are $2 per event and close on Thurs., Oct. 17. Post entrees will be $2.50 and will close at noon on Sunday of the show.

There will be two age groups: 17 and under, and 18 and over, with trophies for first and ribbons to fifth. There will be a high point trophy for the day in each age group.

Aside from the regular gymkhana events, there will be an "inside the Arena race," "trailer loading," "flag race," and many others.

At noon lunch break, two polo teams from the Point Lobos Riding and Polo Club will play, under the direction of Sue Sally Hale; the games will be announced and play described.

The Snack Bar will be open all day with refreshments...hot dogs, hamburgers, soft drinks and coffee. The club welcomes you to bring your own lunch and enjoy the beautiful picnic grounds.

There are entry blanks at the following stores: The Farm Center and the Hayloft in Carmel Valley and Scott's Silver and Leather Shop in Carmel. For further information write Evelyn Zoellin, show secretary Box 521, Carmel Valley.

For the uninitiated: Gymkhana is a meet featuring sports contests. In this case, horseback. This is an especially appealing show for spectators. The events are all timed, move quickly and have exciting finishes. In case of ties, the contestants involved usually have a run-off.

Auxiliary Flea Market offers joint booths

Carmel Valley's Fireman's Auxiliary which is making plans to have a community Flea Market, Saturday, November 16, invites individuals who don't have enough merchandise for a booth of their own to contribute to the Auxiliary booth. Usable articles, old or new, as well as plants and preserves are sought, according to Barbara Belleci. Mrs. Belleci is in charge of Flea Market arrangements, assisted by all Auxiliary members. For pick-up service phone 659-2089 or 659-4603.

The Auxiliary also invites clubs, youth groups and church organizations to apply for their own booths. Twenty percent of all proceeds will go to the Community Center; each group or individual booth-holder will keep 40 per cent of its earnings.

The third family is Lt. Stanley Sokol and his wife Mary Ann who are making their home on the Los Laureles Grade.

Barbara, Jean and Mary Ann were among the guests of honor at the "Welcome Aboard" tea given for the new wives recently in Herrman Hall in the Post Grad School. Accompanying them from the Valley were Mrs. Thomas Tucker and Mrs. Dean Ortman.

ARIZONA ADVENTURES

Two early day settlers in a card game were responsible for the name of the town in Arizona where the Dean Espinosa family spent their summer vacation with Vinnie's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louie Simpson. The men who happened to own two of the largest ranches in the area placed their land as stakes for the game saying "Show low and the land is yours." A deuce of clubs was drawn and ever after the town was known as Show Low, Arizona. In addition to the reunion with Vinnie's family including a sister from Phoenix whom she had not seen for 10 years, the children acquired a liberal education in Indian lore.

The living room of their grandparents' home resembles a museum with the artifacts (many found on the 160-acre Simpson ranch) displayed in show cases. Deanetta, Darwin Dewayne, Daryl and Derek were able to find and bring home arrow heads, part of a tomahawk, and some beads.

One of the most exciting adventures was a trip to a cave containing petroglyphs, found while hunting for mountain lions.

The cave could only be reached after driving to the end of Black Canyon, making their own road over washes, and finally continuing a great distance on foot. Their return trip to the Valley was made via the Grand Canyon. One of the main topics these days at the family home at Wagon Wheel is when they can return for more exploring among the Indian ruins of Arizona.

NEW COOK BOOK

If the chuckles along the assembly line which is putting the book together were any indication, then the ALL NEW Chapel Guild Cook Book will surely be a valuable aid to eliminate the drudgery from the kitchen. There are divider pages carrying appropriate cartoons and 100 more recipes than earlier collections. Among the well-known personalities who contributed their talents, were Sted Wood who was responsible for the cover and 2 cartoons, Bob Barnes, Fred Toole, Frank O'Neal, Jim Dickie, Eldon Dedini, Al Parker, Eugene Baker, and Peg Murray. John Woolfenden wrote the forward. The title page was designed by the late Leo Cartwright.

Chapel Guild members and many of their friends spent 3 days last week putting the pages in order that they could be bound in time for sale at the Del Monte Community Fair. A copy would make an ideal gift when remembering a former Valley resident.

HAMBURGERS AT WILL'S

Will's Fargo was the scene of many surprises for Pearl Carper and Kay Hoff, celebrating retirement from their 21 year owner-managership of the Park Drive-In in Seaside.

The dinner featured Dream-burgers and French Fries served in baskets and Ruth Meyers made a cake in clever replica of a hamburger. Place cards were printed reductions of the Park Drive-In menus.

LIEUTENANT COLONEL James E. Cody, Fort Ord's Information Officer, has the silver oakleaf of his rank pinned on his shoulders by his wife and his commanding general, Major General Thomas A. Kenan and Mrs. James Cody did the pinning under the portrait of General E.O.C. Ord after whom Fort Ord was named.

The Codys make their home in Tierra Grande in Carmel Valley.

Co-conspirators in the surprise party were Dona McKenzie and Helyn Crow. Long time friends from the Bay area who joined in the festivities were Betty Ellet, Mary Claire Hornoff, Jim Barry, Wilma Lorentz, Catherine Sheckler and Ray Bahler.

HO-HO's

Award for "Donor of the week" should go to a new resident on Lilac Lane who called a representative from the CV Community Chapel Thrift Shop to pick up a truck load of treasures in her car port and then helped load resalable items with such enthusiasm that she even included the bags containing her week's purchase of groceries!...

During the recent siege of road construction, a small 'beginning-to-read second grader' at Tularcitos could understand the terminology, but not the reason for advertising when upon spotting one of the many signs warning, "Loose Gravel" he asked his mother, "But how come their SIGNS say 'Lousy Gravel'?"....

Subdividers to speak at CVPOA

The board of directors of the Carmel Valley Property Owners Association will invite subdividers from the adjacent northern boundaries of the Valley to speak before the CV POA quarterly meeting on Nov. 21.

The effect of these developments on traffic and the future Valley Roads will be the topic of discussion.

The board voted to invite Ed Hogan, developer of Hidden Hills, and someone from Utah Construction Co., which is associated with both Hogan and Del Monte Properties, to speak. In addition, Ed DeMars, Planning Director of the County, and Road Commissioner Bruce McClain will be asked to attend. The board also suggested support of the proposed 4-lane planlines from the Farm Center to Los Laureles Grade, now that the lower Valley lines have been approved.

Dick Kern was named representative from the CVPOA to work in the Valley clean-up drive which has been requested by Ed Bivins of the County Health Dept. All Valley organizations will work together on this project which is proposed for some time in November.

Doyt Early was named to serve a second term as the CVPOA representative on the Upper Valley Advisory Board.

The quarterly meeting will be held in the multipurpose room of Tularcitos School, at 8 p.m. on November 21.
